The only real reason for the Juneau day next week is the Juneau Superior Court interviews. I almost hate to say it but we can work something out that would be easier than flying in Tuesday morning and flying out Tuesday night.

Ok. But next week will be a bear trying to get to Juneau (instead of today and tomorrow) with Todd on the slope. I'm not sure who's scheduling next wk's Juneau appts, but the ideal is for Juneau mtgs to take place when todd is home - so he can take the kids. Don't want to be picky about it, but the schedule should ideally reflect my work in Anchorage when todd's on slope, Juneau when he's in wasilla. Almost a week-on, week-off sched until next semester starts when the girls can be with me in Juneau.

Confidential bc people gossip too much about my sched already. Thanks!

Governor,

I flew up to Anchorage yesterday and right now have a return flight scheduled Wednesday night. I planned on having Pat run me through the two PPT models prior your meeting. I have been concerned that their information still lacks the needed definition and direction and with all the time they are spending on studying the options, I want to make sure that the team does not dump everything on your lap without the appropriate research and information for you to make a policy decision. We are also walking through the AGIA team's proposed public relations plan. In addition to several other meetings, I have time scheduled with Frank and Dan to get the board vacancies and recommendations ready to present to you. There are over 50 vacancies but Frank and Dan have been working hard making a lot of calls preparing names.

I know we can have a very productive week here if you would like to stay in town.

July 18, 2007

Dear Governor Palin:

Like many Alaskans, I appreciate the philosophy behind your recent budget cuts. Your statement that 'someone needs to be the adult' struck a cord with me, and although I do see value in a number of the projects that will not receive state support, I would prefer to support a governor who recognizes the value of fiscal constraint than protest those items that I favor which were removed from the budget. I support the criteria that you applied to the line items in the state budget and I am very satisfied with your well considered approach to your role as chief executive officer.

I am hoping that you will apply the same quality of leadership to the proposed state funding of the Gravina Access Project in Ketchikan. I am not in support of the hardlink between Ketchikan and Gravina. I think that we could both agree that the project has the potential to be a local 'wedge issue'. There are enough nay-sayers to a bridge among local conservatives (I am a registered Republican) and others that it will be difficult for your administration to garner the kind of support necessary to justify such a tremendous expenditure from the state's capital budget.

In 2002 our community voted in favor of a hardlink between Ketchikan and Gravina. The measure passed with a substantial majority. Things have changed. Many locals were in support of the bridge based upon the preferred alternative which would leave both the east and west channels open to cruise ship passage. The current most likely alternative would effectively restrict large ship transit in the east channel. The economic and access problems caused by a 60 foot span over the east channel have many locals concerned.

Your administration is going to be asked to support this alternative and provide money in the capital budget to fund it. If you were to apply the same standards that you correctly used in your recent line-item vetoes to the Gravina hardlink, I am confident that you will find that it comes up lacking. On the other hand, if you act in the manner of a fiscal conservative in this matter, you are likely to lose support among a number of local conservatives who will argue that since the community passed this measure in 2002 your administration should support it.

I think that you can effectively both eliminate the Gravina hardlink and the argument that the community of Ketchikan strongly supports it by asking the borough assembly to put a referendum on the October ballot that provides for three choices:

1. support for the high/low bridge spans

2. develop and implement a plan to effectively increase ferry access to Gravina

3. do not increase access to Gravina

I suspect that you will find a significant erosion of local support for a bridge if the community has a viable option to open Gravina without the hardlink that restricts transit in the east channel. If the borough is unwilling to place the proposal on the ballot, you could reasonably infer that they lack confidence in their position. I cannot imagine that your administration is willing to back such an expensive and unnecessary project if its advocates cannot muster the necessary public support. Thank you for your time.

Regards,

Peter Bolling

Your red pen is working great! It is very refreshing to find we have been given a Governor with the character to do what is right for the majority of the people and with great regard for the "special interest" groups that are upset...special "disregard" for them takes more "guts" (assurance and peace) than any politician I've seen in 50 years or more. Now, that you've made them aware of your real intentions it won't be any surprises when you start really making budget progress by clearing out the many who do little or nothing and have been for years.
My only concern is replacing you when you defeat Lisa for that Senate seat and reform the Washington crowd. Please make a thorough clean up here before you leave. Thanks to you and Praise to Our Father in Heaven for making you our governor! Our prayers are with you.

May He Guide Your Every Thought and Act,

WOW! I just scanned over the 18 pages of budget cuts, way to go!! We actually live in Big Lake, Wasilla is just for mail, and yes, you did cut some for here - however, you are right, it is not the state's responsibility. We have made Alaska our home for the past 35 years and wondered when this would happen.

The media is already giving you a bad time, so, you MUST be right. I can't see why Lydia Green says you were partial to the Mat-Su Valley. And she represents it!

We did not realize that the port was to be a stable/major deployment site for our troops, wonder when the last time that happened. It seems that they try to use emotions of the people instead of common sense to spending, especially when it is their pet project.

When the handouts stop, just maybe some will have to get up and work and take responsiblity for themselves. You are on the right track, keep on with the common sense approach and just maybe it will rub off on some of our elected officials.

You have our support, we agree with you 100%.

I know that you have had both family and friends in the Educational system, however, I personally believe that our school system is consumning much too much of our budget (in the Mat-Su Borough it is 75% of the total). I urge you to take a hard look at that as well. Maybe look at some other states like Utah and North Dakota. A truth that is never spoken is that "money spent does NOT equal a quality education". In fact I beleive that the two have nothing to do with one another. Again, I think you are doing a fine job.

Gov. Palin,

I wasn't sure that you could weaken the stranglehold of the old guard but you did and I'm impressed. I left the republican party several years ago due to the overwhelming influence of certain big name politicos and religious leaders had in governing and spending.

I agree with your vetos and would encourage our national delegation to consider following in your footsteps. Unfortunately, Stevens and Young absolutely refuse to conduct earmark considerations in public and that's fine with me they don't have my support either. And this isn't saying that I side with the Demos. Washington is corrupt and I'm not sure, in my life time, if it can be cleaned up. In this respect you offer some hope.

I like your approach with respect to the public vetting process pertaining to pet projects. In fact, I couldn't agree more. There needs to be more public in the process, more accountability and a lot less reliance on government to finance everything under the sun.

We continue to be far apart with respect to the role of God in government beyond what was intendent in the Constitution.

Keep up the good work!

Governor Sarah,

Just wanted to let you know that Mike and I are very proud of your veto pen. I just reviewed the 18 pages of cuts that were posted on the ADN page. What you did was a very hard task. I especially happy that you are interested in letting local government have a bigger roll in spending the state oil revenue through revenue sharing with local public comment. This is especailly important with a state our size and the capital so far from the majority of the public. While I am sorry to see the Willow/Pt. Mac EIS funds cut, the Borough and the ARR can step up for such an important economic developement project for Mat Su.

Thanks for being fiscally responcible!

Dear Governor Palin:

Although this email may get lost in the many other things that you deal with day to day, I wanted to tell you how pleased I was to read about your vetoes this morning. I agree that many of the items cut were not State responsibilities, and even though others may not see it -I do see how your trying to cut all the excessive spending.

Many have complained that you should have given some sort of criteria or guideline as to what you would accept. I believe much of this was blaringly obvious. You should not have to stand there and explain that you will not approve Boy Scout (this is only any example- they do great work and I would never take away from the benefits they have to offer) funding as it is not a State responsibility. Okay, so maybe the only thing I really didn't support was the funding to the church sportsdome, as I think this conflicts with the separation of church and State, but was happy to hear they withdrew their request so this is a moot point.

But, I read through the list and clearly understood your reasons, as everybody else should- it's not rocket science. I do support your municipal funding and many of these projects should be handled on that level. Even though I do wish someone with your similar attributes would come to Anchorage and do the same thing. I just found out in the last couple of months that Dimond HS is using $20K of the ASD budget to replace more expensive frosted glass windows that are skylights. And they aren't even broken!

Your vetoes were a breathe of fresh air that even if Anchorage isn't working in the direction of culling excessive spending atleast you are on the State level.

Thanks for all your hard work and business savvy.

Greetings Ma'am

Thank you So Much for your thorough, thoughtful and extensive line item vetos of the recently passed state budget.

No, I certainly don't agree with them all, like everyone I have my pet projects... but if those projects are so valuable, your veto will be overridden by the legislature. This is how it Should work, but it never does unless the Executive uses the line item veto as objectively as you have.

As time goes by there is one practice I believe to be extremely valuable:

I find a small bit of time when I can be outside alone. I take off my shoes and socks and plant my bare feet squarely in the dirt (or snow): Then I breathe in the air of the GreatLand.

Can't tell you how/why this works, but it certainly does.

Good on Ya!

We actually live in Big Lake, Wasilla is just for mail, and yes, you did cut some for here - however, you are right, it is not the state's responsibility. We have made Alaska our home for the past 35 years and wondered when this would happen.

The media is already giving you a bad time, so, you MUST be right. I can't see why Lydia Green says you were partial to the Mat-Su Valley. And she represents it!

We did not realize that the port was to be a stable/major deployment site for our troops, wonder when the last time that happened. It seems that they try to use emotions of the people instead of common sense to spending, especially when it is their pet project.

When the handouts stop, just maybe some will have to get up and work and take responsiblity for themselves. You are on the right track, keep on with the common sense approach and just maybe it will rub off on some of our elected officials.

You have our support, we agree with you 100%.

I know that you have had both family and friends in the Educational system, however, I personally believe that our school system is consumning much too much of our budget (in the Mat-Su Borough it is 75% of the total). I urge you to take a hard look at that as well. Maybe look at some other states like Utah and North Dakota. A truth that is never spoken is that "money spent does NOT equal a quality education". In fact I beleive that the two have nothing to do with one another. Again, I think you are doing a fine job.

Governor Palin,

I wanted to applaud the budget cuts that you made in the last week. In an era of big goverment and big government spending, it was refreshing to see you rein in government spending and make those budget cuts.

Maybe Congress will take note of your actions and follow your lead.

Respectfully,

Dear Representative Toohey:

Thank you very much for taking the time to write such a thoughtful and encouraging response to my administration's action regarding SB 53, the FY2008 Capital Budget.

I have heard from many Alaskans that they are excited and hopeful that we can get spending under control, manage our revenues and resources efficiently, and cut wasteful spending.

I am working with my commissioners on developing the FY2009 budget to meet my budget goals to control spending, live within our means, and save for the future.

I appreciate hearing from you!

Gov. Palin,

I wasn't sure that you could weaken the stranglehold of the old guard but you did and I'm impressed. I left the republican party several years ago due to the overwhelming influence of certain big name politicos and religious leaders had in governing and spending.

I agree with your vetos and would encourage our national delegation to consider following in your footsteps. Unfortunately, Stevens and Young absolutely refuse to conduct earmark considerations in public and that's fine with me they don't have my support either. And this isn't saying that I side with the Demos. Washington is corrupt and I'm not sure, in my life time, if it can be cleaned up. In this respect you offer some hope.

I like your approach with respect to the public vetting process pertaining to pet projects. In fact, I couldn't agree more. There needs to be more public in the process, more accountability and a lot less reliance on government to finance everything under the sun.

We continue to be far apart with respect to the role of God in government beyond what was intendent in the Constitution.

Keep up the good work!

Just wanted to let you know that Mike and I are very proud of your veto pen. I just reviewed the 18 pages of cuts that were posted on the ADN page. What you did was a very hard task. I especially happy that you are interested in letting local government have a bigger roll in spending the state oil revenue through revenue sharing with local public comment. This is especailly important with a state our size and the capital so far from the majority of the public. While I am sorry to see the Willow/Pt. Mac EIS funds cut, the Borough and the ARR can step up for such an important economic developement project for Mat Su.

Thanks for being fiscally responcible!

Dear Governor Palin:

Although this email may get lost in the many other things that you deal with day to day, I wanted to tell you how pleased I was to read about your vetoes this morning. I agree that many of the items cut were not State responsibilities, and even though others may not see it -I do see how your trying to cut all the excessive spending.

Many have complained that you should have given some sort of criteria or guideline as to what you would accept. I believe much of this was blaringly obvious. You should not have to stand there and explain that you will not approve Boy Scout (this is only any example- they do great work and I would never take away from the benefits they have to offer) funding as it is not a State responsibility. Okay, so maybe the only thing I really didn't support was the funding to the church sportsdome, as I think this conflicts with the separation of church and State, but was happy to hear they withdrew their request so this is a moot point.

But, I read through the list and clearly understood your reasons, as everybody else should- it's not rocket science. I do support your municipal funding and many of these projects should be handled on that level. Even though I do wish someone with your similar attributes would come to Anchorage and do the same thing. I just found out in the last couple of months that Dimond HS is using $20K of the ASD budget to replace more expensive frosted glass windows that are skylights. And they aren't even broken!

Your vetoes were a breathe of fresh air that even if Anchorage isn't working in the direction of culling excessive spending atleast you are on the State level.

Thanks for all your hard work and business savvy.

I would however be in favor of a form of local revenue sharing, which would allow the local communities to prioritize and allocate the spending.

Dear Ms. Musgrave:

Thank you very much for taking the time to write such a thoughtful and encouraging response to my administration's action regarding SB 53, the FY2008 Capital Budget.

I have heard from many Alaskans that they are excited and hopeful that we can get spending under control, manage our revenues and resources efficiently, and cut wasteful spending.

I am working with my commissioners on developing the FY2009 budget to meet my budget goals to control spending, live within our means, and save for the future.

I appreciate hearing from you!

Sincerely,

Sarah Palin

Dear Gov. Palin,

I am woefully slow in writing to thank you most sincerely for using your veto pen on that Loussac Library funding request. I had written you (more than once) to state my opposition to that particular line item, and I was overjoyed to see that you did indeed veto it. From a Loussac Library employee, a great big heartfelt THANK YOU!!!

Hello Governor Sarah,

I was quick to send an e-mail two weeks ago imploring you to cut the Capital Budget. And now I would like to be quick to offer a hearty Congratulations on a job well done. I know it took much courage to make the decisions you've made and I'm sure you'll be hearing from your "constituents" and legislators regarding their various pet projects and programs.

I Corinthians 16:13 tells us to stand firm, be courageous and strong and do everything in Love. In the coming weeks and months, I'm sure there will be many tests and struggles and challenges to the hard decisions you've made. Stand firm!

Again, congrats on a job well done.

Sincerely,

Craig Thorn

I'm so pleased that you're Alaska's governor and have kept your promise to have open, transparent leadership and that you're not one to follow a pre-set way of doing things because the Republican party says it should be a certain way. Truly acting in the best interest of Alaska's citizens is something I thought many politicians lost stomach for long ago.

I applaud your budget vuts, especially the 2 million form removing a hill here in Valdez. Also good were your cuts to things like the Boy Scouts. As an Eagle Scout from Fairbanks I know first hand the benefits of being a Scout. However no where in the scout Law does it say anything about begging from the government for money. The support for these programs should come from the private community, not from the taxpayers.

My only suggestion is to cut more next time. There was too much asked for and too much left in. Valdez as usual and like many others will continue to ask for more just because it can. Irresponsible, yes, but true. As Nancy Reagan said, "just say no."

Best Regards

We were always Republicans until we moved to AK back in 1982. Your moves to bring back responsible & ethical government are ALMOST enough to make us want to switch parties. KUDOS to you Ms. Sarah. It is so nice to see you in action. I am so impressed by you.

When I heard about the $231 Million dollars that you cut out of our "unneccesary" needs I was first concerned a bit I suppose but after hearing what was cut and what they were asking for I am pleased. It seems before you came to be our Governer there was allot of unneccesary spending. Money is so much easier to spend when it's not your own, huh. On another note, I am so happy that we have a Woman like you as our Governer. Men don't multitask well, they get flustered and can't concentrate. As a multitasker myself I know you can get the job done and I have complete faith in everything you do. Your the Bomb Sarah. I sure would like the opportunity to meet you someday when you come to Kenai.

Have a great day.

news@peninsulaclarion.com

Dear Sen. Green

I was surprised to read your comments in the paper today, your remarks towards our governor," It shows total lack of understanding of the process". Now to a layman, such as myself, take that as "she ain't playing fair and should learn her place on how things work." Now consider how long Alaskans have had to deal with politicians that "understand the process" and just the overwhelming support of the Alaskan voters to give her a chance to "FIX" our states problem. I for one am tired of the way things have been, and applaud Governor Palin on her courage to "shake things up", I would expect the same from anyone in her party. If you haven't noticed, Americans in general are tired of the status quo in our government, and Alaskans are less forgiving to politicians who favor big business and special interest groups over the needs and wants of the people.

I am among the vast population of Alaskan who live from Paycheck to Paycheck, and when I see the state Governor cuts spending and forces our pork barrel spenders into tightening their belts, as most of us have to do, that tells me that we Alaskans made the right choice for governor and that the politicians that don't follow her lead could find themselves as extinct as our former governor Murkowski's political career. I respect your position and your courage to serve your state.

There are few who would endure the criticism. But the governor set down the rules when she campaigned, the people who voted for where listening, and she is staying true to her platform, that takes even more courage I think.

Dear Sarah,

We thank you for the following budget decisions:

1. Alaska Berry Growers (Jack and Debbie Brown)Proposed $ 100,000 now ZERO.

2. Sterling Community (Contractors) Club Proposed $ 300,000 now ZERO.

3. Sterling Seniors Proposed $ 300,000 now $ 75,000.

Because of the inflation spiral, we are in the process of placing a large used double wide ATCO Structure on our property next door in cherry condition 28'x 60,' for a mini motel bed type facility to enhance our generally fixed income in the late spring, summer and early fall. We demolished the old cabin house that was falling down.

We did not and we repeat we did not go to any form of government for any type of funding. Most of our cost is out of our savings and a very small loan on our property at Key bank. We expect to house 12-14 people at the maximum.

Samon works for a fish processor; long hours and lots of expensive gasoline. Next year (2008) we'll be online about the middle of May trying to pickup the professional fishing guides overflow basically and some of our own overnighters. At the maximum Samon will see about 8 hours of work per day with help as she requires it. We'll drop our fuel use radically to about 6,000 miles per year for 2-cars, instead of 12,000 miles per year. We close the business down after fishing season to start a new the next spring.

We plan to name it either "Teedah's Mini-Motel" or "Teedah's Retreat." One of the rooms will have "GUV's DIGGS" on the door, just incase you and your family require a very friendly place to stay, incognito outside of the "city" life.

Love from Bill, Samon and Teedah

I"ve been on the Kenny Lake Soil & Water Board off and on for over forthy years and for most off the time there was no Federal or State Funds for the Boards. There could have been some at the State Board Level, but none for the local Districts.

When Uncle Ted provided Federal Funds, it just creasted a lot of government jobs that the State would have been better off without.

Dear Governor Palin,

I'm just writing you a note to say THANK YOU for your fiscal responsibility. As a former non-profit worker I have seen the power of local donations, and the weakness of programs suppported from afar.

Many of the complaints I have read in news articles from groups on the cutting room floor seem to me to be whining, as old fashioned as that sounds. Also, it seems that many of these organizations are perfectly capable of raising the funds they were asking the state for.

Community members are responsible for community projects, groups, and the quality of their communities - NOT the state. I applaud your recognition of this and your transparency in enforcing this decision. Alaskans are greatly privilidged in that they pay no income taxes. I recognize this and contribute to many local organizations as my way of contributing to my community.

I am happy to see you keeping your campaign promises, and ending the waste of State Spending.

I am curious though, what are your long term plans for the state budget?

Dear Mr. Prax:

Thank you very much for taking the time to write such a thoughtful and encouraging response to my administration's action regarding SB 53, the FY2008 Capital Budget.

I have heard from many Alaskans that they are excited and hopeful that we can get spending under control, manage our revenues and resources efficiently, and cut wasteful spending.

I am working with my commissioners on developing the FY2009 budget to meet my budget goals to control spending, live within our means, and save for the future.

I appreciate hearing from you!

Sincerely,

Sarah Palin

Governor

Thanks ever so much for excercising your line item veto in the manner you did. I have waited a long time for someone like yourself with the guts to stand up to political pressure and and remind people what the purpose of Government really is. I couldn't agree with you more in your saying that we need to save for the future. If I might be so bold to suggest that before government pays for a bridge across Cook Inlet and to Gravina Island in Ketchikan, it should first make sure that the roads we presently have are safe in the first place. We have a lot of four lane roads in the Fairbanks area that have 25 or 35 mph speed limit signs on them due to poor road conditions when the norm is 55. If we are going to build roads like this we need to have money in the bank or budget to maintain them in a better fashion than we presently do or build something that we can better afford/maintain in the first place.

I hope that your vision spreads and that Ted Stevens and Don Young catch on to your ways. This nation, let alone this state can't afford the spending habits of those two.

Keep up the Good work!

I wish you the best and I hope you have the fortitude to run again!

Your even-handed use of the Line Item Veto has brought a needed ethos of honest, responsible government to your position. You've undoubtedly caused many on both sides of the isle to release their lapdogs, but it's only a sign that you're doing what's right. And for that, it takes true courage. Thanks, also, for recapturing a sense of what Alaska used to be about.

I read the article in the 1 July Frontiermans after watching the crying and complaining from cuts in Anchorage on Channel 11 News.

Really simply, the following is my e-mail remarks to Senator Lyda Green and this says it all: "If you're going to have new rules, announce them the first day, not one month after we leave Juneau," she said. "She needs to make it clear the sorts of things that aren't going to be funded. This is not a good way to run things. It shows a total lack of understanding for the process." Well Lyda, she did, on her inauguration speech. She held the State Constitution high and said she would base all decisions on that Constitution, period. You all in the Legislature have been spending money outside of that Constitution for too long. Now we have someone who actually meant it when she took the oath, now how about the rest of the Legislature doing the same?

Keep up the good work Sarah, you are doing exactly what we wanted you to do, FOLLOW THE STATE CONSTITUTION!! Hurray for you!!

Good Job Governor Sarah, on the veto action. I just read the Frontiersman story on our state's budget this year and am impressed by your decision processes on what not to pay for.

As for Lyda Green complaining about not knowing your new rules... as if it would have mattered if she did months ago in Juneau. She's a good lady, but she found out your plan the right way. The way that something Happens, as opposed to getting talked about.

You're a mover, Mrs. Governor. Just don't fool with my guns, and I'm your man.

Governor

First and foremost THANK YOU for using the line item veto. In my opinion it is a good start! Use the veto early and often. As I view myself as a constitutionalist and a conservative, any reigning in of government is a good thing. It was refreshing to hear the news that you had vetoed such a large dollar amount from the state budget. Do not worry about making some citizens angry. For every one that is upset with your budget, two more are happy.

Second point: Please reconsider getting rid of the jet. If the KingAir is in need of refurbishment, it does not make sense to put money into that aircraft when we already own a better one. Compare the performances. Please consider passing the KingAir on to another department (DOC?). Dont worry about the fallout, just explain the business considerations to the public.

Remember, you are always welcome in my avionics shop.

Stay strong!

Also great ideal on special session in Anchorage or Fairbanks, get the politicans accessible and transparent. Amazing how short a session when it is in Anchorage.

Please know most Alaskans support transparent government and your actions. Keep it up!

By the way I am an Alaskan the past 37 years, retired state employee for 30 years and a registered independent. Don't change your direction one bit, you are highly supported and don't cater to special interest with squeaky wheel syndrome or the entitlement handout albeit the senior longetivity program of existing narrow low income for EXISTING folks is fine with me.
